

Meeting Of Mothers' Council Nov. 10 At Alta Vista School Is Postponed

A MEETING of the Mothers' Council was to have been held on Monday, November 10, at Alta Vista school but this meeting has been postponed on account of the fact that at this time the president of the Mothers' Council will be away attending the convention of the Mothers' Council and Parent-Teachers Association. The date for the meeting of the Alta Vista Parent-Teachers Association will be announced later.

The League of Women Voters met Wednesday afternoon in the Y. W. C. A. clubhouse to elect officers and to adopt the constitution and bylaws. It was discovered that several matters had been neglected in changing the name from the "Equal Franchise League" to that of the "League of Women Voters" at the preceding meeting, so it was voted to resume the name of the "Equal Franchise League" long enough to vote on the necessary matters. After the matter had been arranged in satisfactory manner and it had been voted to change the name permanently to the "League of Women Voters" it was decided that the officers of the Equal Franchise League will continue to act for the new organization until February.

The officers are as follows: Mrs. O. A. Culbertson, president; Mrs. Horace A. Lay, first vice president; Mrs. J. J. Dink, second vice president; Mrs. Robert Townsend, recording secretary; Mrs. E. H. Yale, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Alex Ferguson, auditor; and Mrs. C. J. O'Leary, equalizer. The directors are Mrs. J. J. Dink, Mrs. William Wallace, Mrs. E. J. Fen-

War Service Work.
Friday night at the arm Y, a fellowship farewell was held. The seventh cavalry put on a program full of good music and good talks. A large crowd turned out to bid farewell to the army Y. Gid Higginbotham, the camp religious director and building secretary of the Seventh, arranged the entertainment. The Seventh's orchestra entertained the audience with a large number of selections. Music was under the direction of Joseph M. Evans of the Central Baptist choir, was appreciated by the men and was rendered in fine style. As was also Mrs. R. J. Wilson's solo and Little Edward Schenck's singing. He accompanied himself with the guitar. Short talks by Capt. H. H. Thompson, Rev. G. W. McCall, chaplain Knawles and Gid Higginbotham were all well received. Col. Thompson was full of praise for the men of the Seventh cavalry Y and expressed his thanks for the service rendered by them to his regiment and especially commended Mr. Higginbotham on the work done by him and his men, and ended by asking the boys to give the Y the old seventh cheer.

A group of women of the city gave a cake and ice cream treat to the men at the Red Cross Convalescent house Thursday evening. The table, where the refreshments were served, was decorated with Halloween colors, orange, white and black. Four hundred servings of ice cream and cake were dispensed and there were over 500 men present during the evening to enjoy the hospitality. An informal social hour was also enjoyed during which time Edward Schenck sang, Pvt. Bernard Carr played piano selections and Mrs. L. G. Ginzburg sang "Just a Warning For You" and other songs. The evening was marked with a homelike informality and the group who gave the treat included Mrs. W. G. Young, Mrs. G. Zerk, Mrs. L. Ginzburg, Mrs. J. Zerk, Mrs. A. Schenck, Mrs. R. Silberberg, Mrs. J. H. Bromberg, Mrs. J. Kaufman, Mrs. Leo Gale, Mrs. Nathan Lapowsky, Mrs. P. C. Lerner, Mrs. Paul Lamo, Mrs. Martin Zielonka, Mrs. A. Schwartz, Mrs. W. Rothen, Mrs. Ben Levy, Mrs. Johna Krakauer, Mrs. H. Goodman, Mrs. H. Weiler, Mrs. Kotovsky, Mrs. William Fishman, Mrs. Charles Ausy, Mrs. Shabert, Mrs. L. Ginzburg, Mrs. G. Collinson, hostess of the Red Cross Convalescent house, assisted the group in serving the men.
